CONFEDERATE RAILROAD

Danny Shirley (b. Chattanooga, Tennessee, USA; lead vocals/guitar), Mark DuFresne (drums), Michael Lamb (guitar/vocals), Chris McDaniel (keyboards/vocals), Gates Nichols (steel guitar/vocals) and Wayne Secrest (bass). Drenched in the southern country rock of Charlie Daniels and Lynyrd Skynyrd, Danny Shirley formed a powerful country band, which, for a time, worked as David Allan Coe's touring band. In 1991, Shirley recorded a solo album for Atlantic Records and then persuaded the label to release it as a group effort under the name of Confederate Railroad

The band's first platinum selling album features the the title song, the band's first Top 20 single. Other highlights include "Fire On The Mountain" "Virginia", and the live version of "Can't You See".

1974 Where We All Belong

The classic double LP includes the band's first release of "This Ol' Cowboy" and "In My Own Way". The live side features incredible performances of "24 Hours At A Time" and "Take The Hiway".

1974 A New Life

Maximum Guitar magazine rates this LP one of their ten "must have" southern rock albums. A New Life reflects the band's diverse musical abilities from the lazy country tune "Too Stubborn" to the R & B influenced "You Ain't Foolin Me" to the bluesy "Southern Woman" to the rockin' "Another Cruel Love." Also includes the studio version of "24 Hours At A Time."

1973 The Marshall Tucker Band Beginning with the first grooves of "Take the Highway" it's clear that this was no ordinary hillbilly band. The first album also includes "Ramblin'" "Losin' You" and the MTB anthem, "Can't You See".
